On lookers couldnt believe their eyes when the Kipling Est Bakery opened its doors today, ten years after its original g opening (a video of which can be seen oposite). No one could explain the success of the bakery after all these years. The bakery was originally intended to stay on the site for 1 year but due to unprecedented success it became financially viable to keep it open for 9 more years. Head baked James O'Sullivan claims its down to good baking techniques and his safely guarded family recipe.
